RESPECT & SPORTSMANSHIP AT TWICKENHAM

Respect and sportsmanship are two of rugby's fundamental Core Values and at Twickenham Stadium, the Home of England Rugby, I would ask supporters to show due sportsmanship towards both teams' kickers as they convert tries or kick penalties.

Please also respect other supporters and their right to enjoy today's match without interference so we would please ask you to resist Mexican waves and the temptation to throw items which might injure other supporters or their children. Today hundreds of thousands of viewers will be watching this match on television and all of us at Twickenham have the opportunity to demonstrate rugby union's unique values to this audience.

John Steele, RFU Chief Executive
